Francis A. Hammond, late president of the San Juan Stake of Zion, who was accidentally killed on Nov. 27, and whose funeral occurred in Ogden on Samuel Smith and Charity Edwards field, New Mexico, Nov. 27, 1800. Hammond, was born Nov. 1st, 1822, at Patchogue, Long Island, State of New York. His parents were descendants of the old Puritan stock, and were zealous in their efforts to train their children to reverence God and sto deal rightly with their fellow men.
Francis A. inherited the sterling qualities of his parents, was sober and industrious, and until fourteen years of age labored at the tan-yard and on the f the family.

Born and reared near the shore of the creat Atlantic ocean, he would watch he large merchant men come and go, nd boylike he was siezed with a suden desire to visit new climes. Gainng his parents' consent he at once set about to gratify this desire, and suceeded in securing a berth in a small ailing vessel, receiving four dollars er month for his services, and at the of seven years spent aboard ship e had worked his way up until he held he position of captain's mate, a lucrave and trustworthy position. In 1843, fortunately for him, he start-

i on what proved to be his last voyage—on Wednesday, June 24th of this year he left thte harbor of Sag Harbor, ong Island, on board a vessel engaged n the whaling service. They rounded he cape of Good Hope, sailed through he Indian and Pacific oceans and afer a successful cruise in the Arctic iters, having secured much whale oil d blubber, they at length turned faces homeward.

It was then that an accident occurred which proved the turning point in his ife. While storing away their cargo he ship gave a sudden lurch, misplacng a barrel filled with the oil, which ell upon him, crushing him to the Upon being extricated it was found that serious injuries had been sustained, and all the crew were satisfied that they would ere many days be called upon to part with their companion, and lay him away in the bring deep. But this was not to be, for the deep. But this was not to be, for the Lord had a work for him to perform, and his life was spared for this pur-pose. On reaching Honolulu, Sandwich slands, he was transferred from the Priesthood of the Sait Lake Stake of ship to land, was placed in care of a native Kanaca, and the vessel proceeded on its homeward journey. With careful nursing his recovery was rapid and permanent, and within sixty days he was again a sound man. He secured a supply of leather and began work mak-ing shoes, harness and other articles, and, remaining there three years, he built up an extensive trade. In the year 1847 he decided to gratify longing desire to visit home and loved ook passage on a vessel bound for the Pacific coast, and after an uneventful voyage landed at San Francisco in October, 1847. 'Twas here he first met with the "Mormon" people and heard the glorious message that God had again spoken to man, and the Gospel had been restored to earth,

Naturally religious, he was not slow n accepting these truths, and was baptized for the remission of his sins by Elder Petch. December 31st, 1847, and from that day to the present his life has been a witness of his sincerity and earnest belief. Gold had been discovred near Sutter's mill and other localities, and he, in company with others. isited that much-talked-of section, but his mind was upon heavenly riches instead of the treasures of earth, and after a month spent in the gold camp he, in company with a company of men who had been discharged from the "Mormon" Battalion, started for the lovely and fruitful vales of Descret. After a perilous journey of ninety days, having experienced the trying ordeal of being attacked by redskins, as well as being on the verge of starvation, in which he exhibited a marked degree of patience and bravery, the company reached Salt Lake City October 6th, 1848, and for two years he followed his usual occupation of shoemaking.

Having come to the conclusion that it was not good for man to be alone, he wooed and won Mary Jane Dill worth. They were married Nov. 17th. 1848, a small farm was purchased on Big Cottonwood, and this avocation was followed for a time.

At the October Conference in the year 1850, he was called by the Prophet of God on a mission to the Sandwich Islands, and in March, 1851, in company with his wife, Parley P. Pratt, and ten other Elders, left Salt Lake City for his field of labor. Arriving at Lahaina, Maui, Sandwich Islands, about the middle of August, 1881

Six years were spent on the Islands. A great work was done among the na ed themselves with the Church, and in branch of missionary work, Elder Hammond proved himself worthy of his calling. At length, the authori-ties in Zion saw fit to release him. He reached San Bernardino, California, in the fall of 1857.

Money was scarce and he was compelled to remain there during the winter, working late and early to secure means enough to pay for trans-porting himself and family to their The pamphlet also contains an account of the General Conference of the Destret S. S. Union, held Oct, 7, 1900.

In the spring of 1859 (by the counsel of the Presidency), he established, at Ogden, a tannery, also a boot, shoe and harness shop. Here he remained for six years, having been called to act as counselor to Bishop West.
